A Forum for Questions and Answers for this Class

A forum for this class can be found at Piazza.com. If you have a question about this class, you should ask it there. Questions about assignments, Linux, C, Python, vim, or anything else that concerns this class are welcome there. If someone asks a reasonable question and you know the answer, please respond. Always remember to be polite and respectful when you post. Please check this page daily, as we will use this forum for any emergency communications.

You may not post more than 2 lines of C code on this webpage. If you want help on figuring out an error, you may post the error trace, the line of code that caused the error and the line immediately preceding that line (so 2 lines max). Failure to follow this rule, whether intentional or not, may result in immediate suspension from the forum and charges of academic misconduct.

You will be added to the Piazza.com roster during the first week of class. You must use your crimson email address or have some other information in your profile that identifies you as an Alabama student. Otherwise, your request to join the forum will be rejected.
